tFlow is revolutionary software that offers the flexibility to automatically preflight and fix files based on customizable preflight profiles, a user interface with elegance and simplicity that is unmatched by other programs, coupled with the power to apply color conversions based on ICC profiles, device-link profiles or plate curves and automate everything from file creation through delivery of print-ready PDF's.

It's a preflight server, it's a color server, it's automated, it's all wrapped up into one and it's going to make you more efficient than ever before!
